College High Debaters Win State Tournament

By Kay Anderson

If you don't believe in good-luck charms, be ready for an argument from four College High students. Also, be ready to lose, for they recently won the State High School Debate Tournament in Lexington.

The championship team, composed of Freida Friedli and Bobby Denhardt, both juniors, on the negative side and Danny Boggs, a sophomore, and Judy Ward, a senior, on the affirmative side, contribute their victory to a lot of hard work and to "Mrs. Frances Dixon, our teacher, she's really great." The team was still glad to have two horseshoes, stowed in pockets and rebuttal files, and a lucky pair of earrings worn by Mrs. Dixon "just in case."

Take Top Honors

The Kentucky Debate champs met and defeated Trimble County, St. Xavier, Henderson County, Richmond Model and Frankfort on their way to their 3-2 split decision victory. Frankfort ranked second place in the tournament.

Charles L. Taylor Named Agriculture Man Of Year

Mr. Charles L. Taylor, former head of Western's Agriculture department and Warren County farmer, Friday, April 17, was named "Man of the Year in Kentucky Agriculture."

The award was made by the Farm Press and Radio Association of Kentucky during a meeting at Louisville.

Faculty Member

Until retiring last September, Mr. Taylor had been on the Western faculty for 35 years. For 30 years he headed Western's Agriculture department and managed the college farm.

Mr. Taylor is a native of Ohio County. After attending Western, he earned degrees in agriculture from the University of Kentucky and University of Wisconsin.

He served as the first county agriculture agent in Hopkins County, first in Nelson County, and as agent in Henderson and Boyle counties.

Farmer

In the early '30's he and his late brother bought a rundown badly eroded farm near here. "Through wise management, sound financing, good conservation and soil building practices, and a balanced crop and livestock program, this farm has been improved until today it is an example of productivity and rehabilitation," according to J. M. Heizer, who presented the award.

Mr. Heizer termed Charlie Taylor a "combination professional and cooperative farm leader, and

Players Next Production Scheduled For May 7-8

Maurice Valency's adaptation of Jean Giraudoux's impish salute to the pure in heart, The Madwoman of Chaillet, has been chosen by the Western Players to close their busiest season on May 7 and 8. "The Madwoman" is a magnificent comic fable of modern times coming to Van Meter Auditorium as the Players final production of the current school year. The combination of Giraudoux's inspired writing and Valency's ingenious job of adapting French into English make it a fascinating theatre experience for actors and audience.

Ever since the 1945 premiers of The Madwoman of Chaillet in Paris, this Gallic comedy has been touching off heated discussions, but always creating a sensation. Editorials as well as drama columns reflected the general enthusiasm that greeted the play's debut, when it was seen as a re-birth of French letters, a glow of past glories, and a message of hope for the future. A minority, as is the case with any theatre piece of such rare quality, failed to understand what all the shouting was about, and was quite irritated. But the debates only served to whet interest in "the Madwoman," and the play ran at the Theatre L'Athenee for 13 months to capacity audiences.

After it was adapted into English by Maurice Valency and pre-

What Is College Like?

Each year more and more young men and women are enrolling in our colleges and universities. This rapidly growing number bears out the fact that a college education is becoming more important and that our young people are becoming aware of this importance.

These young people who are filling our college classrooms until they are overflowing realize the fact that the individual with a college degree is the one who is employed and is the one who will receive the promotions and the pay raises. A college education is becoming a necessary qualification for success in today's world.

Many young persons enrolling in college have no idea at all what college life is like. They ask just what makes up one's college life, and what are some of the values? Well, in working toward a college degree a student will experience many different things. He will have his moments of frustrations, worry, and discouragement, and also his moments of excitement, joy, and the taste of success and achievement. Four years of college life will include a generous taste of all of these.

Paramount in the student's life at college will be his experiences in the classroom. These are the experiences which will become the cornerstones for his undertakings in later life. The classrooms and the professors will also be the source of many of the problems he will face. Often these problems may seem insurmountable, but through hard work and perseverance they will be solved. A majority of the students solve these problems and by doing this are becoming trained to cope with the problems they will encounter later on.

Another important facet of college life is the social training the student receives. Probably for the first time the young man or young woman is placed on his own. He is responsible for choosing his own friends, meeting other people, deciding how to spend his time, and managing for himself in general. The student will encounter more young people about his own age in college than he has met anywhere before, and he must learn how to meet this situation. At receptions, dances, parties, and various gatherings the college student will have the opportunity for social development and entertainment.

Another exciting part of the collegian's life will be the athletics participated in by the college teams. Sports of some sort provide a variety the year round. Football, basketball, track, tennis, baseball; no matter what the students favorite is, he can see his team in action. This is a marvelous way to get a relief from the studies and to entertain oneself.

The college student should never have the problem of extra time on his hands. The number of clubs and organizations in which he can become a member should take care of his spare time. No matter what the student's interest may be, he should have no trouble finding an organization for persons with the same interest. These organizations are an essential part of college life, and they can add greatly to the fun and to the educating of the individual.

Then we must not forget all the "get-together" sessions in the forms without which a part of one's college education would be missing. These get-togethers are as necessary in one's college training as the classroom sessions. The discussions may not be on the level our professors would prefer, but we can receive information on an unlimited number of subjects: some of it good and some of it not so good.

Kentucky Building

By Bob Richardson
For the observance of National Library Week, April 12-18, the Kentucky Library placed on exhibit an interesting collection of old and new books on architecture, etiquette, cookery, and weaving. In addition there were on view handsome illustrated books on antique furniture, silver, pewter, china, glass, porcelain, quilts, and coverlets.

The comparison between the old and the new was most marked in the cookery and household books. How lucky for us today that we have "Slaves by the Billion." This is the title of a volume written by a local author, Silas Bent, which tells the story of mechanical progress in the home.

Cook Books

Since Kentuckians of all periods have the reputation of paying as much attention to their table as to their politics. It was no surprise that the cook books were the main attraction for most of the visitors to the exhibit.

It is hard to realize that for many years in rural Kentucky there was no refrigeration of food except in spring houses, no ice except a comparatively small quantity which had been cut from a pond or river and stored in an underground icehouse. The only cookstove was the fireplace with its cranes and trivets, with a Dutch oven or a wall oven for baking purposes. In spite of these handicaps, delicious meals were produced.

Directions Given For Skills

Meat could only be preserved by smoking or drying. Fruits were likewise dried. Grapes became raisins and plums became prunes by this simple process, and the more common dried apples and peaches were as highly regarded. Maple sugar, honey, and sorghum usually were substitutes for the very expensive sugar which had to be brought from the eastern seaboard or from the deep South. The housewife was responsible for making the soap, the candles, and supplying the crude lamps with grease. She also wove the material for everyday clothing of her family, which she made slowly by hand, and knit their common stockings and gloves. The old books give di-

Religious News

Those students who remained in Bowling Green over K. E. A. were treated to an extemporaneous meeting which was held Sunday, April 19. The meeting was called a fun night, and it was held at Dr. Graham Gordon's house.

April 26 will begin a series on a very timely subject at the Presbyterian Church. The subject is "Love and Courtship," and it will be led by Dr. Gordon. The worship will be conducted by Mary Bell Ennis.

Those desiring rides may obtain them by meeting at the McLean Hall parking lot at 5:15. The meeting will begin at 5:30 with a supper following the service. This meeting will be held at Dr. Gordon's home and everyone is invited to attend.

Church of Christ News

Everyone is happy over the way in which the new church in Forest Park is progressing. Attendance and interest are extremely high. Charles Goodall, a senior Math Major on the Hill, has been preaching at the Sunday evening service. The young people are holding an informal "Get Acquainted Party" next Wednesday evening; everyone is invited.

Twelfth Street Church of Christ was very pleased to have as guest speaker Sunday, April 12, Bro. L. Wesley Jones from Louisville, Kentucky. He was visiting the church for the second time this year.

Book Marks

By Perry Lewis

Kentucky shows strong indications that it is answering the slogan of National Library Week (April 12 - 18), "Wake Up and Read."

Not long ago Kentucky was half a century behind its neighboring states in public library development. Only twelve years ago there were no libraries in 53 of Kentucky's 120 counties, and many of the existing libraries were poorly supported and little used.

It would be possible to credit the Bookmobile for awakening Kentucky from its literary sleep, for since the Bookmobile began serving Kentucky, some 40 counties have established libraries.

The Bookmobile Project was just the beginning. It was followed by the Library Services Act, which made it possible for Kentucky to plan for public libraries and bookmobiles which would join together and serve cooperatively as one unit.

Soon Kentucky will take many strides forward in public library development. These improvements will be made for your convenience. Don't miss them: "Wake Up and Read."

As this issue of the Herald will be read by many of the high school seniors who will visit our campus May 1, I would like to suggest that they begin the process of selecting a career as soon as possible. No one can tell you the way to select a career, but one thing is certain: you should become familiar with a wide range of careers before you attempt to make your selection.

The preface of Choosing A Career, edited by George Bijur, will establish the need of choosing the right career in the reader's mind. The book which was published at the close of the depression, contains authoritative discussions on several careers.

The library staff realize the importance of selecting the right career, that is why they are arranging several displays for High School Senior Day. These displays will contain numerous publications concerning many different careers. Among these will be the series: Vocational Guidance Manuals; The Career Research Monographs; and Employment Outlook published by U. S. Bureau of Labor Statistics. Other sources helpful in locating information on various professions are, Guide to Career Information by the Career Information Service, New York; Life Insurance Company; and Occupational Literature by Gertrude Forrester.

These displays should be of great interest also to college students and all persons who are engaged in vocational guidance.

Musical Notes

By Karlene Engleman

The State Music Festival is being held on Western's campus April 22-25. Van Meter Auditorium, the Little Theater, the Cedar House, and the Music Hall are being utilized by the high high school students.

The Music Educators club meeting was held at Mr. Claude Rose's home April 20. After the meeting the group enjoyed listening to Mr. Rose's new stereophonic phonograph.

Dr. T. J. Stone, Mr. James Godfrey, and Mr. Rose attended the meeting of the southern division of MENC in Roanoke, Va., April 2-7.

Mr. Bennie Beach, Mr. Ohm Pauli, and Miss Gertrude Bale acted as adjudicators at the State Music Festival in Henderson on April 4. Dr. Howard Carpenter and Mr. Rose were adjudicators at another session of the same festival on April 11.

Dr. Stone, Mr. Rose, and Mr. Godfrey attended the KMEA meetings and banquet held in Louisville during the KEA holidays. During this time Dr. Stone was elected vice-president of the newly-organized Kentucky Association of College Music Departments. Member institutions include the following: University of Kentucky, University of Louisville, Eastern, Western, Murray, Morehead, Transylvania, Georgetown, and Berea.

Mary Ellen Ditto and Hilda Mohler, senior music majors, will present a joint senior recital in the Choral Room of the Music Hall on May 5.

Aileen Clay, senior flute major, will present her senior recital April 30 in the Choral Room of the Music Hall. She will be assisted by Karlene Engleman.

HILLTOPICS

By CARL P. CHELF

During the next two or three weeks Western's campus is going to be the scene for numerous activities. Starting on Wednesday and lasting through tomorrow, our campus is the meeting place for students from some forty high schools in Kentucky, who are participating in the Divisional State Music Festival. We want to take this opportunity to welcome all of these visitors to our campus and to tell you that we are happy to make the facilities of our campus available to you. We feel honored to have so many outstanding students on our campus. We hope that your visit to our campus will be a pleasant one.

On Friday, May 1, one of the outstanding events of the spring semester will be held on the Hill. On this day high school seniors from South Central and Western Kentucky will be the guests of Western for High School Senior Day.

Speaking for the students of Western, the faculty, and the staff, I want to take this opportunity to express a welcome to all of you. It is a pleasure to have you on our campus and we want to do everything we can to make your day on the Hill an enjoyable and an informative one. Make yourselves at home and feel free to ask all the questions you want to about the college and what it has to offer. The students and the faculty and staff members will be glad to give you any information they can.

You are our guests for this day and we want to serve you in any way we can. If there is a certain part of the college or a certain department which you are interested in, feel free to inquire about it because that is the purpose behind this occasion.

A great deal of the success of this day depends on the students of Western, and it is their responsibility to welcome the seniors, guide them over the campus, and answer their questions. If each student will only do a little in this direction, he will contribute much toward the success of the day. All students are urged to do their part in making this day a huge success.

We wish to express our thanks to everyone who is working so hard in making preparations for this big event. The preparation for this day displays a fine spirit of cooperation on the part of many individuals and many different departments. A word of thanks to all the various departments for their demonstrations, displays, and time spent. We couldn't begin to name everyone who has a role in this huge affair, but a word of appreciation to each and everyone who is contributing in some way.

sented in New York in December 1948, a similar reception met this comic fantasy. Almost all critics and audiences agreed that Giraudoux had written a beautifully moving comedy. That the play indeed struck a responsive chord in the hearts of "average" theatre-goers, is indicated by the hearty full-year run on Broadway of The Madwoman of Chaillot. This was followed by a highly successful twenty-week tour through eleven major cities.

Members Of Cast

Garbed in the raiment of a Parisian eccentric, the so-called "Madwoman" will guide the action and maneuver most of the situations in this humorous fable. She is a rather fey, out-of-this-world, down-at-the-heels countess, whose madness is touched with infinite wisdom. Jo Ann Hall Kurtz must play her with her head in the clouds of wishful illusion, but with her feet firmly planted in the basic realities.

Dennis Preston will be seen as the Raggicker, typical of the madwoman's cronies from the streets of Paris, who include sidewalk-cape waiters, peddlers, flower girls, and street musicians. It is the Raggicker who brings the romantic countess to the realization that the world is no longer so beautiful as she believes it is to be, in turn starting the Madwoman on her stratagem to rid the world of the greedy people who make it unhappy.

Alice Chumbley, Sharon Waffari, and Anna Rose Whitman will be seen as other "madwomen" from other quarters of Paris who are friends of the Chaillot eccentric, all of whom take part in the hilarious tea-party scene wherein the countess lays her plan. Symbolizing some of the worlds parasites whom the Madwoman seeks to destroy are the President, the Prospector, and the Baron. These roles will be acted by Douglas Hardgraves, Bill Forester, and Glen F. Johnson.

Judy Neill, as a tender-hearted waitress, and David Polk, as a youth who tries to escape from a "jam" by suicide, will carry the play's poignant romantic interest, while other roles have been assigned to Jim Dabney, Harold White, Bill Steenbergen, Ed Hocker, Maria Brandon, Bill Warren, Anne Shaver, Carol Frey, Harold Grace, Ted Urban, Ronald Braus, Warren Kessler, and Jim Flood, the latter of whom will be required to do a stint of juggling.

Widely Successful

The play's delicate wit, charm, Continental flavor, intellectual interest, all contributed to its success in both Paris and New York and on a twenty week tour across the United States. Director Russell H. Miller has found in the play a fable that is different and challenging. Sharon Waffari is designing the play's two imaginative settings, representing the "Chez Francis," a sidewalk rendezvous of the Madwoman and her friends as well as her enemies on the Parisian boulevard as first-act background. The second act transpires in the grotesquely handsome celler bedroom of the countess where she gathers her vegetables to plot the salvation of the world.

The Madwoman of Chaillot is a rare play. There is an enchantment about it. This is a mature allegory told with such penetrating wit that one often wants to savor its comments, come as they are, rather than laugh at them. Its basic theme is that people who value pure happiness and are innately generous, are likely to be tagged mad in the materialistic world in which we live today.

Maintenance Conference Held On Hill

Dr. Orba F. Traylor, state commissioner of finance, was one of the principal speakers at the opening of the two-day session of the third annual state maintenance conference at 9 a.m. Tuesday, April 21.

Approximately 75 maintenance personnel from state agencies, including schools and hospitals, were present at the meeting being held in the new Maintenance Service building on the Western campus.

Welcomes Group

Mr. Robert Cochran, director of public relations, welcomed the group on behalf of Dr. Kelly Thompson, president of Western, who was in Danville.

Following Dr. Traylor's talk on "The Department of Finance Looks At Maintenance," Dan Tuttle, assistant director of the State Tuberculosis Commission, discussed "how good maintenance and good management go hand in hand."

Mr. L. T. Smith, physical plant administrator at Western, concluded the morning session with a talk on the benefits and advantages of a good service building.

Afternoon Session

The afternoon session was opened with a talk by Don Purvise, of the State Department of Mental Health. Purvise's talk was followed by a group discussion of special problems relating to maintenance and operation.

A dinner meeting was held at 6 p.m. in the cafeteria of the Student Union building.

Wednesday's meeting was opened at 9 a.m. with a general session. Reports on special projects concluded the two-day conference at 3 p.m.

Other services that will aid the visitors are a first aid station in the college clinic, a lost-and-found department in the physical education office, and an information center in the Student Center.

The ROTC department will be in charge of handling traffic for the day.

Faculty Members Speak In Chapel

In keeping with American Library Week, four members of Western's faculty spoke at chapel Wednesday, April 15, telling what books have meant to them.

Dr. Baxter, head of the department of agriculture, Dr. Monroe, member of Art department, Miss Lyaa, member of English department, and Miss Grimstead, member of library staff were the ones who spoke.

Community Players Will Present Comedy In May

"The White Sheep of the Family," an off-beat comedy hit which turns conventional morality upside-down and inside-out, will be the next attraction of the Bowling Green Community Players to be presented in Van Meter Auditorium early in May. This light farce with the merit of originality in its development of an extremely backward situation garnered plenty of laughs to provide a welcome addition to the London theatre. After a year's successful run there, it received the endorsement of "good entertainment" when the popular American comedian, Edward Everett Horton, adopted it for special tours through the U. S. and Canada.

"The White Sheep of the Family" tells of an uncommonly pleasant professional family, the Winters, who reside in a charming suburban house near London. James Winter, played by Dr. E. G. Monroe, is at the head of his profession — and his wife, played by Betty Rose Miliken, son and daughter, played by Joe Harris and P. A. Lenk, are skilled practitioners as well-lawbreakers all. But the very pillars of the family tradition are shaken when son Peter renounces his proud heritage. The disgraceful young man has taken a job in a bank — and his motives are honest!

Judy Neill, Glenn F. Johnson, Sue Grafton Flood, Bill Forester, and Jim Flood round out the cast of this thoroughly amusing, if completely non-moral comedy. The author's deft and witty dialogue is maintained throughout on a consistent plane. Russell H. Miller, director of speech activities with the Western English department, is producing director. William F. Loy, Mort Lenk, Mildred Hoffman, and John L. Minton are on the production staff.

"The White Sheep of the Family" should prove a worthy successor to "Sabrina Fair," the other major production of the Community Players for the current season.

Package Show Entertains At Banquet

The Western Players Package Show provided the after-dinner entertainment for the annual banquet of the Bowling Green-Warren County Hospital Board and guests held at the Olde Fort Restaurant on Monday evening, April 20.

This popular entertainment unit served up a stylized program of musical varieties. Charlie Flenner, who scored in the recent Western production of "Carousel," was master of ceremonies for the program. Toby Van Meter contributed personality songs. Millie Watson gave the program an operatic touch with selections from "Carousel." Susan Lones, the "dancing doll" of the package, added variety with character dances. Marilyn Jones, popular vocalist for the Red and White Orchestra, interpreted her numbers in the modern mood. Fredda Wallace brought down the house with her inimitable renditions of "the blues." Flenner doubled as pianist as well as MC to make his own compositions a high point of the show.

The Package Show, a party and convention entertainment unit directed by Russell H. Miller, will return to Scottsville, Kentucky, for its third request program at the Jacksonian Hotel on Thursday evening, April 30.

The Package Show is also scheduled for presentation in Van Meter Auditorium as a part of the Western High School Senior Day program on Friday, May 1. The Package Show will run from 1:45 p. m. until 2:30 p. m. Western students and guests are invited as well as the visiting high schools on campus for the day's festivities.

Army commander in the divided city. He is also a native Kentuckian, being born in Hopkinsville and listing Columbia as his official residence.

His Trouble

This establishes him with considerable success in his diplomatic achievements. The delay became an international incident in the Cold War.

Newspaper Writer

The general says his wife is somewhat interested in newspaper work and writes some articles for service publications. However she does not make much money at it. One time she came back to Columbia and took over as editor of the Adair County News when the general's brother, the editor, was ill.

The Hamletts have one daughter, Mrs. Ottilia Stanley, who is married to an Army lieutenant in Germany. They have two grandchildren.

Mrs. Hamlett is remembered by many of the former students, teachers, and office personnel around the college because she attended Western in 1942.

Alumni News

Keep Up With Western Graduates By Reading The Alumni News

Dr. Karl H. Beyer, BS '31 receives recognition in an article called "New Hope for Overloaded Hearts," which appeared in the April issue of Readers Digest. The article relates to Diuril, a new wonder drug hailed as one of the major medical discoveries of recent years. The article gives credit for the discovery of this drug to Dr. Beyer, who is Director of Pharmacological Research in the Sharp and Dohme Division of Merck and Company. It also gives him credit for pushing the development of the drug and predicting its many uses.

Dr. Beyer is a native of Henderson and is well known for his many scientific achievements. He was an outstanding student at Western, and for two years served as a laboratory assistant in the department of chemistry. After leaving Western he was awarded the Ph. D. and the M. D. at the University of Wisconsin.

He will be remembered by many local people as guest speaker at the local section of the American Chemical Society and at Chapel exercises a few years back.

Dr. Ralph Curry, BS '48, professor of English at Georgetown College, addressed the Canadian Library Council on April 16 at the Royal York Hotel, Toronto. As managing director of the Stephen Leacock Memorial in Orillia, Canada, for the past two years, Dr. Curry made a report on its progress.

Dr. Curry has written a critical biography on the life of Leacock, which is entitled "Stephen Leacock, Humorist and Humanist." The book is scheduled for release early this fall. It will represent more than 11 years' work by Professor Curry.

Nick Diachenko, BS and MA '56, has been selected to coach the Kentucky team for the third annual Senior Bowl football game at Williamson, W. Va., on August 15. The Williamson Kiwanis Club is the sponsoring organization.

Diachenko is a former West Virginia All-State selection from Gary, W. Va., High School. His teams at Jenkins have won 18, lost two and tied one the past two years.

Mrs. Nina Warren Adkins, AB '49, writes from Wallins Creek, where she is librarian, and expresses her appreciation for the HERALD, and especially the alumni column. Mrs. Adkins and her husband, Wendell, a teacher at Wallins Creek are the parents of two children, Thomas David "Butch," two years old, and Amelia Ruth, two months old.

John E. Howe, BS '40, assistant dean of the St. Louis University Law School, will be the new dean of the Washburn University of Topeka School of Law in Kansas. He will assume his duties as head of the 56-year-old law school on July 1.

Howe has been professor of law and assistant dean in charge of admissions, scheduling and budget control at St. Louis since September, 1955. He is a member of the American, Missouri, and Kentucky Bar associations and of Phi Delta Phi, legal fraternity. Before joining the St. Louis school, he taught as assistant professor in the law school at Creighton University, Omaha, and as visiting professor in the summer sessions of the law schools at the University of Kentucky and the University of Missouri.

After completing his undergraduate work at Western, Howe received a bachelor's degree in law from the University of Kentucky and a master's degree in law from the University of Michigan.

Before entering the teaching field he was a practicing attorney in Mt. Sterling, Ky. He is the author of several articles which have appeared in professional journals.

Mr. and Mrs. Howe have three children, Alla Jeanne, 15; John, 13; and Martha, 11. They will move from University City, Mo., where they have made their home, to Topeka this summer.

W. L. Colley, Life Certificate '16, writes the College Heights Herald from Beaumont, Calif., and the Alumni Editor is taking the privilege of quoting most of its contents. The letter is dated April 13.

"College Heights and I aren't exactly strangers. I, myself, went up and down the 'hill' some before World War I. At the time, H. H. Cherry was President of Western."

This morning I left several National Geographic with the principal of a local grade school. The Principal, Richard Cherry, is a grand-nephew of H. H. Cherry. On my way to school, I stopped at the P. O. Box, and got the College Heights Herald.

My thoughts may come as a surprise to some of the folks who knew me. I admit that I was surprised by my own logic.

I parked some distance from the grade school, and walked across level ground toward Mr. Richard Cherry's Office. While walking to his office, I remembered that speakers once upon a time spoke of College Heights as an institution of higher education, or as a place of higher learning. And it was, . . . definitely.

In fact I talked this over with Dick, and told him that putting colleges on hills was the best reason I've ever heard of for calling them places of higher learning.

Mr. Colley is a life member of Western's Alumni Association.

Will Ed Coltharp, AB '49 is finance manager for Jim Reed Chevrolet Company in Nashville, Tenn., a position he has held since 1955. Following his graduation he was employed for five years as collection manager, adjuster, credit manager, and then as branch manager for the Universal C. I. T. Credit Corporation of Paducah and Cairo, Ill. The following year he served as dealer contact and sales representative for Interstate Finance Corporation of Nashville. He is a life member of the Alumni Association.

Will is married to the former Sue Jones, also a former Westerner. They reside at 3119 Knobbale Road in Nashville, with their three children, Bud, 10, Connie Jo, 6; and Pennie Sue, 6 months. The Coltharps extend greetings to all of their friends from Western and invite them to visit them in their home on Knobbale Road.

Marybeth Wilson, AB '58, is teaching 10th and 11th grade English in the Scott High School of Fort Knox.

George B. Simpson, AB '51, Sturgis attorney, has announced his candidacy for the Democratic nomination for State Representative from Union County.

Mr. Simpson, a veteran, has served in the U. S. Air Force as a Judge Advocate for two and one-half years. He has been acting as the attorney for the city of Sturgis for the past two years. He is a native of Union County and a graduate of the Sturgis High School. He is also a graduate of the University of Kentucky College of Law. Simpson is married to the former Sandra Slater and they have two children, George Slater and Nina June. Mr. Simpson is secretary-treasurer of the Sturgis Kiwanis Club and an active leader in civic affairs.

Miss Elizabeth Drake, Life Certificate '10, passed away at her home in Washington, D. C. and funeral services were held in Bowling Green on Tuesday, April 21. Miss Drake was a retired teacher, having taught in Louisville over a long period.

Misses Sara Helen Gleaves and Judith Anne Moore, BS '58, were two of the ten students elected from the student chapter of the Association for Childhood Education, International of Peabody college in Nashville, to attend the ACEI work-study conference in St. Louis, from March 28-April 4.

Miss Gleaves and Miss Moore are attending Peabody, working toward Master of Arts degrees. At the February meeting of Western's SNEA, they were guest speakers.

Many more applied. Not all were accepted. In more than 200 U. S. colleges, 14,436 college sophomores met the high standards set. These students were selected to continue officer training in the advanced R.O.T.C. course. Why did each of these young men decide that he would benefit by fulfilling his military obligation as an Army officer? Here are two important reasons. Perhaps they'll help you make your decision.

1...TRADITIONAL RESPONSIBILITIES

As an Army officer, you're in command of men. More men than the number supervised by many civilian executives years older than yourself. To meet your command responsibilities, you employ a great many of the LEADERSHIP principles acquired in advanced R.O.T.C. training. And your executive potential develops while you gather LEADERSHIP experience. The executive ability you gain as an Army officer will be an important advantage in any civilian career. That's why employment directors often prefer men who have served as commissioned officers. These men have already proven their capacity to handle executive responsibility.

2...TRADITIONAL REWARDS

In every organization, greater responsibilities mean greater rewards. The traditional prestige of an Army officer is matched by material advantages. A second lieutenant earns a minimum of $355.88 per month—plus substantial fringe benefits. Think you might want to marry soon after graduation? An officer's salary can make things a great deal easier for a married couple just starting out. What's more, an Army officer is entitled to take his dependents with him, wherever possible. Imagine sharing the fun of travel with your wife—in the United States or foreign countries like France, Germany or Japan.

ROTC News

The Military Science department will hold its annual Awards Day ceremony and review in the Western stadium Friday, May 1. Fifteen cadets will be presented awards for outstanding performance in academic and military fields. Several of the awards are donated by Bowling Green citizens and organizations. Awards are also furnished by the department of the Army, the Association of the United

Today the Military Science department of Western receives its annual inspection by representatives of Commanding General Second United States Army. Colonel Jean P. La Cour, PMST at John Carroll University, Cleveland, Ohio, is the president of this board.

The inspection includes the department facilities, cadets, training, and personnel and administration. Colonel La Cour is accompanied by Lt. Col. Lloyd C. Hall, Dayton University; Cap. James I. Miller, Bowling Green University, Ohio; and M. Sgt. Herman L. Andrews, John Carroll University.

The Western ROTC rifle team defeated Eastern's team, Friday, April 10, in the Western range by a score of 1362 to 1342.

This winning margin wipes out an earlier loss to Eastern this year and gives Western possession of the match trophy for this annual competition for the sixth time in eleven years.

William S. Ross, Western freshman from Horse Cave, was high scorer in the match with 281 out of a possible 300 points.

Club Discusses Its Constitution

The March meeting of the Arts and Crafts club was held, and a revision of the club's constitution was discussed by the members. A motion was made to have copies of the constitution printed and distributed to the members prior to rewriting.

The members of the Arts and Crafts club have purchased two wood working vises which have been donated and installed in the local boys club.

Tentative plans have been made to have a picnic this spring at the Municipal Park. Time and date will be announced.

Five Students Compete In Speech Tourney

Western Debate Associates returned with one superior and seven excellent ratings from the year's final speech and debate competition, the Southern Speech Association Forensic Festival at Louisville.

Lerond Curry, Mary Ruth Grise, Linda Gass, Hayward Joiner, and Charlie Goodall made the trip accompanied by professor Russell H. Miller, director of speech activities at Western. Mr. Miller served on the nominating committee for the Southern Region of the American Forensics Association and the panel of judges for all speech events.

Mary Ruth Grise won a superior rating, the highest given, in oral interpretation. She read from Browning's "The Ring and the Book" and Tennessee Williams' "Summer and Smoke."

Western scored seven excellent ratings in other areas—Lerond Curry excellent in original oratory and debate, Linda Gass excellent in original oratory and debate, Mary Ruth Grise, excellent in original oratory and debate, and Charlie Goodall, excellent in extemporaneous speaking.

Billy Vaughn Is Presented Gold Records In Europe

Billy Vaughn, former Western Student, has recently been greeted with acclaim by European popular music circles, according to a story just published by Music Vendor, a trade publication of the recorded music field.

Awarded Gold Records

Vaughn's reception in Hamburg, Germany, included "mobs of frenzied fans, hand-shaking reception committees of notables, and three days of banquet ceremonies." The presentation of two gold records, the first ever awarded to an American artist, was the climax of the reception.

Another gold record was awarded Mr. Vaughn in Amsterdam. The Kentuckian had previously received gold records in America for the same records which were so popular abroad, "Sail Along Silvery Moon" and "La Paloma". The Dutch Air Force also named Vaughn personality of the year.

With Dot Records

The former Westerner is music director of Randy Wood's Dot Records where he does most of the arranging for Dot and his orchestra furnishes the background for recording sessions of other Dot artists.

Historical Portraits

In the east stair hall at the Kentucky Building there are three life-size portraits with an unusual historical background.

Many years ago plans were made to have a Confederate Memorial Museum at Richmond, Va. In preparation for that museum, Mr. E. F. Andrews was commissioned to paint portraits of thirteen prominent Confederate officials, a commission which was executed. For some reason the Museum failed to materialize and the paintings he had done were scattered over the country. In some manner not known today, three of them wound up in the attic of the City Hall at Covington, Kentucky. About 1940 Mr. Orie P. Ware learned of their existence there and mentioned them to Keith Chioe, at that time a student at Western. Keith told the story to Mrs. Mary T. Moore, who wrote Mr. Ware about them. City Officials at Covington agreed to send them to Western, where they have been on display since.

Only one of the portraits here is of a Kentuckian. That one is of John Cabell Breckinridge, who in 1861 was elected by his fellows in Kentucky to be a Senator, but who almost immediately refused the place, becoming, instead an officer in the Confederate army. He served in that army until early in 1865, when he became Secretary of War in the Confederate Cabinet.

The second of the life-size portraits is on Isham Harris, who was the wartime governor of Tennessee; the third is of Raphael Semmes, the famous Admiral of the Confederate Navy. The latter picture is the first to be seen by visitors to The Kentucky Building, for it hangs directly in front of the east entrance door. The other two are on the landing above the door.

The portrait commissioning was handled by John Cox Underwood, of Bowling Green, and it is appropriate that these paintings should now be in his home town. Long after these paintings were done, the artist, Mr. Andrews, became the founder of the Corcoran art Gallery in Washington, D. C.

tember, 1957. He is a charter member of the Student NEA organization, serving on numerous committees. He was a member of the committee for the two state workshops held on Western's campus last fall, coordinator of the Student NEA homecoming committee, co-chairman of the Student NEA Senior Career Girl Contest, and presently he is on the committee for the NEA workshop which will be held on Western's campus Wednesday and Thursday, April 29-30.

Archie is also a charter member of the math club. He is a member of the Congress Debate Association, Western Debate Associates; he was third place winner in the freshman-sophomore Robinson Oratorical Contest for men, and just this past January was runner-up in the Junior-Senior Men's Oratorical Contest. He is a member of the Cherry Country Life club, and has been chosen as class editor for the 1959-60 edition of the Talisman.

Archie's interest also turns in the direction of military science where he was chosen Superior Freshman Cadet, had the highest grades of any sophomore in ROTC, and is a member of the Scabbard and Blade, an advanced military science fraternity.

At the KSEA meeting on Thursday, April 16, F. E. Wortham, Jr., senior elementary education major from Sonora, made the introduction speech for Archie. He was capably assisted by two other senior elementary education majors — Anna Rose Whitman, Louisville, and John Foe, Golconda, Ill.

Last year at the KSEA meeting, Western's Student NEA sought and obtained the highest state office as Beverly Belcher, junior elementary education major from Louisville, was chosen as KSEA president.

Judy Phillips, Alice Chumbley, and Joann Dobbs. The annual Hilltop Relays sponsored by the "W" club will bring together the outstanding high school track men in Southern and Western Kentucky.

Golfers Have 5-1 Record

Western's high flying golfers are now resting on an impressive 5-1 record, and they have just finished putting down the University of Kentucky 15½-11½ with a magnificent show of power on both the fairways and the greens.

So far the "Toppers" have scored a total of 93 points to the oppositions 27. The scores are as follows: David Lipscomb 3½, Western 17½; Tennessee Tech 0, Western 18; Austin Peay 1, Western 17; Ballarimne College 10, Western 8; Evansville 1, Western 17; University of Kentucky 11½, Western 15½.

The rest of the season is a repeat performance with all of the above mentioned teams with the exception of Middle Tennessee. The next match is with Tennessee Tech at Cookeville, and then they meet at Municipal for an important match with Middle Tennessee.

Western Tennis Team Has Won First 4 Matches

The "Big Red" tennis team has proved to be a most pleasant surprise by winning the first four matches with ease. April 15 they handily defeated Middle Tennessee at Murfreesboro 7-0 and have proved invincible up to this point with victories over Evansville, David Lipscomb, and Middle Tenn.

The only returning starter is Billy Pedigo but he has been ably supported by junior, Bob Downing and freshmen, Don Horlander, David Polk and Victor Abbot.

The next match will be this afternoon with Tennessee Tech on the Western courts. The team will encounter Murray at Murray next Wednesday.

Annual Hilltop Relays Set For Saturday, May 2

Twenty-two teams have already indicated that they will participate in the second annual Hilltop Relays which will be held in the Western stadium Saturday, May 2.

The annual Relays sponsored by the W Club bring together the best high school track stars of Southern and Western Kentucky. Approximately 20 high school athletes will compete in this year's meet.

Entrants

Thus far Paducah, the defending champions, Henderson City, Daviess County, Elizabethtown, Meade County, Bowling Green High, College High, Caverna, Fort Knox, Campbellsville, Henderson County, Trinity, Owensboro High, Hopkinsville, Franklin-Simpson, Richardsville, Warren County High, Caldwell County, High Street, St. Joseph of Bowling Green, Park City, and Butler County have entered the meet.

The preliminaries will start at 1:15 p.m. and the finals will get underway at 7:15 p.m. Trinity, Meade County, and Henderson City are picked as co-favorites to dethrone Paducah.

Outstanding Performers

Some of the outstanding boys in the meet are: McGee of Hopkinsville, who has run the 100 yd. dash in 19 seconds; Travis of Caldwell County, who placed in the state competition in the high hurdles last season; and Banks of Elizabethtown, who is an outstanding miler.

Awards will be presented to the winners by representatives chosen from each class. Representatives are Marilyn Norris, senior; Joann Dobbs, junior; Alice Chumbley, sophomore, and Judy Phillips, freshman.

Middle Tenn. Wins Over 'Toppers 8-6

The "Topper" baseballers profited from the sharp pitching of Larry Doughty for six innings and held a 4-1 lead at that stage, but the Middle Tennessee Blue Raiders tied the score with a three-run burst in the seventh.

Western moved back ahead, 6-4, with a two-run rally in the top of the eighth. But Middle Tennessee solved Doughty and relievers Ronnie Pond and Ronnie Sheffer for four runs in the bottom of the eighth to win the game.

Besides pitching well until he tired, Doughty also socked three hits to lead all batters. Chet Montgomery and Ernie Rautter picked up two hits apiece, with one of Rautter's blows being a triple.

The loss was the first in three games for the Hilltoppers.

Western Trackmen Lose To Mid. Tennessee 67-55

Western's untried track team put up a gallant battle in a saw-saw fight with Middle Tennessee before going down in defeat 67 to 55 Tuesday night.

The outstanding accomplishments for Western were the first place ratings by co-captains Larry Nutter and John McClearn. Nutter won the shot put with a throw of 43 feet - two inches and was second in the discus. McClearn tied the OVC record with a throw of 142' 6½" in the discus event and was second in the shot. These two are outstanding contenders for the OVC titles in their respective divisions.

Other Wins

Other meritable wins by the "Big Red" team were in the 220 yard dash by Winton Boone in a time of 23 3-10 seconds by staying off Middle Tennessee's Ray Purvis who had previously defeated him in the 100 yard dash with a time of 10 1-10 seconds. The mile run was a major victory for Ray Williams who was running in his first track meet in his career and handily defeated the nearest Middle Tennessee runner by 10 yards in a time of five minutes flat.

Wins Two Mile

Sam Meadors waged a continuous fight with Casey of Middle Tennessee in the two mile run that had the crowd on its feet for the final three laps as they exchanged the lead four times. As they neared the half way mark of the final lap, Meadors started to pull away and was never challenged from that time on. John Coombs was an easy winner in the pole vault with a leap of 11 feet six inches which was at least a foot above his nearest opponent.

Western placed second in almost every event that they didn't win. Boone was second in the 100 yard dash; Jim Hughes was second in the 220 yard dash; Ron Cameron was second in the 440 yard dash; Frank Hudson was second in both the low and high hurdles; and Ron Henson was second in the broad jump.

The next meet will be tonight starting at 7 o'clock.

Gene Rhodes Will Coach All-Stars

There will be something new—the sponsoring Louisville Lions Club hopes — to this year's Kentucky-Indiana All-Star basketball games.

Gene Rhodes, brilliant young coach whose St. Xavier team won the state championship last year, has been named to succeed Lafayette's Ralph Carlisle as coach of the Kentucky squad, Dave Lawrence of the Lions Club announced yesterday.

Guy Strong, whose Male High team won the city championship this past season, has been chosen to assist Rhodes. Strong succeeds Maysville's Woodie Crum.

2-2 Record

The Carlisle-Crum combination coached the past two Kentucky teams, and broke even in four games.

"It's a real honor and great opportunity," Rhodes said. "Of course, it's going to be hard following in Ralph Carlisle's footsteps," he added.

Although both now coach at Louisville high schools, Rhodes and Strong together have been affiliated with the central, western, and eastern parts of the state.

Rhodes, who was a star on the 1945 Male High state championship team, was one of Western's all-time greats and later played professionally for one year with the Indianapolis Olympians.

Strong attended high school at Irvine and then played at both Kentucky and Eastern.

Rhodes and Strong played guard in basketball and were pitchers in baseball. Both played football in high school.

High School Coach

During his five years at St. Xavier, Gene has produced one state champion, two regional winners, and three district kings.

Kentucky's players, now in the process of being chosen by the state's sports writers, will report in Louisville on June 13. The first game will be played at Freedom Hall on June 20 with a return engagement set for Indianapolis' Butler Fieldhouse on June 27.

Asked to rate this year's prospects, Rhodes said, "There are no guards." "There aren't too many good, big boys," he added, "but often in an all-star game a tough 6-4 or 6-5 boy can do a good job because he's more agile."

from Hopkinsville, made a 45-foot putt in a sudden death playoff that will long be remembered by the gallery of 250 fans who watched his brilliant comeback.

Sinks Putt

The Western senior, who is readying himself for a career as a race horse trainer, climaxed the most exciting finish in tournament history by sinking the birdie putt on the first hole of the playoff to edge Bowling Green's Paul Vinson for Kentucky's biggest early season title.

Wood was down three strokes before the start of Saturday's play but he made a gallant comeback as he played flawlessly to wind up the day with a par score of 70 to tie with Vinson and throw them into a playoff.

In Good Position

Because of the inferior condition of No. 1 green, the playoff was played on the dog-leg, 401 yard seventh hole. Wood split the fairway with his drive and hit a slightly - drawn four iron to the front edge of the green. Vinson was in trouble when his 300 yard drive hooked 80 yards off course. One stroke later he was in line for a fairly easy putt but he never got a chance to make it.

Wood looked over his situation, and tapped his breaking 45-foot putt firmly toward the hole. The ball curled two feet to the left on the last third of its journey, banged against the flagstick, and wedged into the hole.

Wood was as stunned as the gallery of 250. "I was just trying to get close," he said.

Renewal Of Western, U. Of L. Relations Near

Western and the University of Louisville are working on renewal of athletic relations.

The second announcement to this effect was made Thursday, April 16, after representatives of the two athletic committees had met in Louisville as KEA opened. The first disclosure here had been made after exploratory work by the committees.

A football meeting may inaugurate resumption of relations. Both Western and U. L. have football openings next September 12. A meeting at the State Fairgrounds has been proposed. Resumption of relations in basketball appears two or more seasons away.

Chosen Captain Of Baseball Team

Third baseman, Chet Montgomery, is the newly-elected captain of Western's baseball team.

Monty has been a regular for three years and has a lifetime Hilltop batting average of .331 according to coach Nick Denes.

Second baseman Tom Fry is alternate captain.

Former Western Student Named Assistant Coach

Gordon Pogue, who attended Western from 1955 - 58, and has directed Brownsville High to 51 victories in 62 basketball games in the last two years, has accepted a position as assistant cage coach at Northwest Louisiana State College at Natchitoches, La.

Former Western football skipper, Jack Clayton, is athletic director there.

Will Work On Degree

Pogue has a fellowship to go with his assistant coaching position at Northwest Louisiana. The fellowship will permit him to finish work on his degree.

He and his family plan to leave for Natchitoches in late May. He will be employed by the city recreation department there this summer.

Pogue hopes to recruit several Kentucky high school graduates. One of his stars of the past season, Charles Alexander, has been offered a full scholarship.

High School Record

Pogue's 1957 - 58 Brownsville High team booked a 26-5 record, winning the county tournament, the Caverna Invitational and being runner-up in the 14th District.

The past season, the Browns posted a 25-6 mark, winning the county tournament and district title.

"My plans are uncertain after I finish work on my degree," he said. "I don't know whether I will return to Kentucky or not. I have surely enjoyed my associations here."

Northwest Louisiana is attempting to schedule several games with OVC teams next season.

Western Graduate Hired As Warren County Grid Coach

Doug Griffin, a Western graduate now working on his Masters degree, has been named as Warren County High's first football coach.

Griffin, 26, from Ellijay, Ga., is married and his wife is a registered nurse at the City-County Hospital. He quarterbacked South Georgia Junior College to a Southeastern area junior college championship before moving here.

Warren County principal, C. H. Harris, said the hiring of Griffin removed the last obstacle for fielding a football team next fall.

Toppers Take 6-4 Win Over Wesleyan

Panny Sarakatsannis, sophomore hurler for the "Topper" baseball team, pitched a four-hitter to pace Western to a 6-4 victory over Kentucky Wesleyan Wednesday.

Sarakatsannis struck out five, walked one and gave up just one earned run. The "Toppers" exploded for a four run rally in the sixth inning to wipe out a 4-1 Wesleyan lead. Sarakatsannis reached first on an error and raced home on Ron Myers' double. Do McCubbin singled Myers home and stole second. He scored the tying run on Ray Hunt's single. Ron DePompeo doubled to score Hunt with the winning run.

Rev. Cowan Speaks At Chapel Program

"We are a world of grown up babies," spoke the Rev. Thomas B. Cowan, pastor of the student union, Berea college, in his address to the faculty and student body in chapel recently.

Growing Up
Speaking on the subject of growing up, Mr. Cowan pointed out that many college students, instead of showing a mature attitude toward their studies, try to get by the easiest way possible. "Many college students," he said, "will not knuckle down to study. A grown up person's life is governed from the inside instead of by passing fancy."

Mr. Cowan also emphasized that when Kentucky has given a person an education, it is that person's duty to put back something into the state of Kentucky to make it a better place in which to live. He closed his address by challenging each person on one question — "Did I do my best?"

The native-born Scotchman, who has attended Yale University, Van derbilt, the University of Chicago, and the University of Louisville, was also the guest speaker at the Leiper English club banquet on Tuesday evening, March 31 at the State Street Methodist church.

An extra-curricular activity at College High, debate was almost unknown and unclaimed before the victory. "A lot of kids at the school didn't even know we had a debate team until we won the championship," stated one member of the team.

Welcomed Home
However unknown the team was, the welcome they received on their return to school proved that this situation had been remedied. The four champs hope the victory will help in recruiting debaters for another championship next year.

Judy, Freida, and Bob have been in debate five years and Danny for four. The team had lost two previous tournaments this season. They hadn't given up hope, though. "Mrs. Dixon told us ever since the 7th grade that some day we would win the state tournament," stated Freida.

The whole team feels that their debating experience will help them later on. Judy, who graduates this year, has high hopes for a career as an attorney. The others are concentrating on bringing the trophy home again next year.

Chester Mercer, another College High student won a superior rating in the discussion category of the speech tournament.

Mr. Taylor is active in the Kentucky and Warren County Agricultural Councils, Farm Bureau, and Seed Improvement Association.

The policy in previous years was to have regional elimination contests and then a state contest for those who survived the regional. Since this meant two weekends away from high school for those selected to go the state, it was decided to have one contest this year and decide all winners at the one contest. More contests on the state level resulted from this change in policy.

Other Divisional State Music Festivals are being held at Murray, Eastern, University of Kentucky, University of Louisville, Pikeville, Morehead, Covington, and Henderson.

ADVENTURES IN SOCIAL SCIENCE: NO. 3

Today, ranging again into the fascinating world of social science, let us take up the subject of anthropology—the study of man and his origins.

The origin of man was indeed a puzzle until the Frenchman, Jean-Louis Sigafoos, discovered the skull and shinbone of Pithecanthropus Erectus in Java in 1891. What Sigafoos was doing in Java is, incidentally, quite an odd little story. Sigafoos was a Parisian born and bred. By day one could always find him at a sidewalk cafe, sipping barley water and ogling the girls; each night he went to a fashionable casino where he gambled heavily at roulette and go-fish; in between times he worked on his stamp collection, which was one of the largest in Paris.

Well sir, one summer Sigafoos lost his entire fortune gambling at the casino. He was seriously contemplating suicide when, quite unexpectedly, a letter arrived from one Lotus Petal McGinnis, a Javanese girl and an avid stamp collector, with whom Sigafoos had been corresponding from time to time through the international stamp collectors journal. Until now the nature of their correspondence, though friendly, had been strictly philatelic, but in this new letter Lotus Petal declared that although she had never laid eyes on Sigafoos, she loved him and wanted to marry him. She said she was eighteen years old, beautiful and docile, and her father, the richest man in the tribe, had agreed to give half his fortune to the husband of her choice. Sigafoos, penniless and desperate, immediately booked passage for Java.

The first sight of his prospective bride failed to delight Sigafoos. She was, as she said, beautiful—but only by local standards. Sigafoos had serious doubts that her pointed scarlet teeth and the chicken bones hanging from her ears would be considered chic along the Champs Elysees.

But sobering as was the sight of Lotus Petal, Sigafoos had an even greater disappointment coming when he met her father. The old gentleman was, as Lotus Petal claimed, the richest man in the tribe, but, unfortunately, the medium of exchange in his tribe was prune pits.

Sigafoos took one look at the mound of prune pits which was his dowry, gnashed his teeth, and stomped off into the jungle, swearing vilely and kicking at whatever lay in his path. Stomping thus, swearing thus, kicking thus, Sigafoos kicked over a heap of old bones which—what do you know!—turned out to be Pithecanthropus Erectus!

But I digress. From the brutish Pithecanthropus, man evolved slowly upward in intellect. By the Middle Paleolithic period man had invented the leash, which was a remarkable technical achievement, but frankly not particularly useful until the Mesolithic period when man invented the dog.

In the Neolithic period came the most important discovery in the history of man—the discovery of agriculture. Why is this so important? Because, good friends, without agriculture there would be no tobacco, and without tobacco there would be no Marlboro, and without Marlboro you would be without the finest filter cigarette that money can buy, and I would be without a job.

That's why.

© 1959 Max Shubman

Without tobacco you would also be without Marlboro's sister cigarette, Philip Morris, a non-filter smoke that can't be beat. Philip Morris or Marlboro—pick your pleasure.
